BEFORE YOU ARRIVE

Passport & Visa Requirements

A valid passport is required to enter Canada by land, sea, or air. Citizens of the United States may present a NEXUS card in lieu of a passport. Depending on your country of nationality, a visa may also be necessary. Visit www.cic.gc.ca/english/visit/visas.asp for current information.

Controlled Substances

Items such as firearms and narcotics are strictly controlled in Canada and should not be imported. Any attempt to do so may constitute a criminal offense. See cbsa.gc.ca for details.

Health Care & Insurance

Health care in Canada is provided by a mix of public hospitals and privately-run clinics. Basic health insurance is provided to Canadians free of charge, but this does not extend to visitors. If you require care, you will be asked to provide proof of insurance. While Canadian health care costs are reasonable by international standards, please ensure that you have adequate coverage. You should also familiarize yourself with your policy number, details regarding what procedures and level of care are covered, and contact information for your insurance company while in Canada.

If you take prescription medications, leave them in their original bottles with your name clearly indicated. If possible, bring a copy of the prescription with you as well; this will simplify the process of obtaining a replacement in the event your medication is lost. In Canada, prescription and over-the-counter medications are sold in pharmacies (e.g., Shoppers Drug Mart) and pharmacy departments within many grocery stores and general merchants (e.g. Loblaws, Walmart). Keep in mind, however, that some drugs that are sold over-the-counter in your country may not be available in Canada or may require a prescription.

Currency & Payment

The Canadian dollar is issued in banknote denominations of $5, $10, $20, $50, and $100. Despite the shift to polymer currency to reduce counterfeiting, merchants may be reluctant to accept $50 or $100 notes. Coins are issued in 5¢, 10¢, 25¢, $1, and $2 denominations. Cash transactions are rounded to the nearest 5¢.

U.S. dollars are accepted by many merchants in Canada, but the exchange rate is generally unfavourable. Other currencies cannot typically be used for transactions. However, most banks will readily exchange major currencies for Canadian dollars.

Canada has an extensive network of automated banking machines (i.e., ATMs) that make it simple to withdraw money from your home bank account. Most operate on the Cirrus/Maestro (MasterCard) and/or Plus (Visa) interbank networks, and the domestic Interac network. Consult your local bank for information on applicable network withdrawal and currency transaction fees. U.S. and Latin American customers of the foreign subsidiaries of Canadian banks (e.g., TD Bank, BMO Bank, Scotiabank) may be able to access their accounts without charge. Please note that four-digit PINs are the norm in Canada; if your password consists of letters, or more than four digits, check with your bank.

Debit payment is widely used in Canada, and primarily operates on the domestic Interac system. Foreign-issued debit cards featuring the Visa or MasterCard logo may also be used. Credit card payment is extremely common in Canada, and can be used for virtually all transactions, including quick-service restaurant meals and taxicabs. Acceptance of Visa and MasterCard is nearly universal, while American Express is accepted by most merchants. Discover Card is NOT widely accepted.

All Canadian credit and debit cards use the chip-and-PIN system that is standard in Europe. Old-style magnetic stripe cards, which lack the chip, can still be used for most transactions so long as they are valid in their country of issue.

Electronics & Electric Appliances

Canada operates on the North American electrical standard of 110/120V, and uses the same grounded plugs as the United States. Most electronic devices, such as laptop computers, smartphones, and tablets, can switch between this and the higher voltages found in other parts of the world and require a plug adapter only. Electric appliances, such as curling irons, need a voltage adapter to function safely.

Telephones & Mobile Phones

The Canadian and United States telephone systems are fully integrated. Local telephone numbers are 10-digits in length, and the country code is 1. Telephone numbers in Canada consist of a 3-digit area code, followed by 7 additional digits; all 10 digits must be dialed when placing a call. Numbers in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia use area code 902.

In Canada, there is no difference in the format used for numbers of mobile telephones and land lines. There is also no charge to call a mobile phone from a land line; airtime costs are borne by the mobile phone user regardless of the originator of the call.

Mobile phone service in Prince Edward Island is provided by three national carriers: Bell (bell.ca/Mobility), Telus (mobility.telus.com), and Rogers (rogers.com/wireless). There are also many virtual mobile network operators that purchase and resell access to the major networks under their own brands; Koodoo, Virgin, PC Wireless, and Eastlink.

All Canadian mobile companies operate GSM/LTE networks that use SIM cards. Please note that they use North American frequencies that are compatible with U.S. networks but differ from those used elsewhere in the world. Most multiband phones sold in Europe and Asia can operate on one or more of these frequencies but may not be compatible with all networks.

As a rule, mobile phone service in Canada is considerably more expensive than in Europe, and moderately more expensive than the United States. If you do not plan to stay in Canada for more than a week, you may find it simpler and more cost effective to purchase a roaming package from your home carrier. Note that international roaming charges without a prepaid package are generally extremely expensive.

Alcohol Purchase & Consumption

In Canada, regulations pertaining to the purchase and consumption of alcohol vary by province. Open liquor is not permitted in public and must be consumed in licensed premises or private spaces (e.g., hotel rooms). Proof of age (e.g., valid passport, driver's license with photo, national identity card with photo) is required to enter licensed bars, pubs or clubs. Individuals who are underage will be denied access. Violators may be subject to fines.

In Prince Edward Island, the minimum drinking age is 19. Spirits, wine, and beer are sold through PEILCC (government) liquor stores, licensed retail outlets, and directly from local producers. Ask your ambassador for more information.

Recreational Cannabis Purchase & Consumption

Recreational use of cannabis products (dried marijuana, oils etc.) is legal in Canada. The import of these products is illegal and subject to prosecution under the Criminal Code of Canada and other legislation. Likewise, the export to countries is illegal and subject to prosecution in the participant's home country.

Consumption of cannabis must take place in private residences, public consumption (parks, streets) is prohibited and subject to a fine. Please note that hotel rooms are smoke-free as is the UPEI campus.

The legal age for purchase and consumption of cannabis products is 19 years of age. It is illegal to provide cannabis to those under the age of 19. In public, cannabis must be kept in the unopened packaging in which it was purchased. Cannabis products are sold through the government at retail outlets where one must present government-issued photo identification for age verification before being granted access to the store.

Weather

February in Prince Edward Island is usually cold, with temperatures averaging –7.8°C (18°F). However, daytime highs can be quite variable, ranging from -3°C (27°F) to –12°C (11°F). Please check forecasts and be prepared to dress accordingly. It is prudent to bring warm winter clothing (hats, scarves, gloves, winter boots, winter jackets).

In addition, Eastern North America occasionally receives heavy snowfall and inclement weather in winter, which may cause travel delays at major airline hubs such as Chicago, Toronto, or New York.

Website & Social Media

We'd like to connect with you prior to and during the competition!

twitter.com @nibscase

During competition week, scores and standings will be made available on the NIBS website and may in some cases be communicated via social media. In addition to giving you ready access to key information, you'll be able to keep colleagues, friends, and family around the world updated on all the excitement here in Charlottetown.

ARRIVING IN CHARLOTTETOWN

Arriving by Air

If you are arriving in Charlottetown by air, you will be coming from a Canadian airport: either Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, or Moncton. You will go through customs and border controls at the first Canadian airport you land in before being directed to the domestic flights terminal of that airport. If you are flying from another part of Canada, you will not need to do this although you MUST bring a piece of government-issued photo identification (many airlines prefer a passport) to board a domestic flight. Once you land in Charlottetown, all you need to do is retrieve your luggage. It would be a good idea to change into warmer clothing at your first Canadian airport if you have the time. The Charlottetown Airport is small and does not have an enclosed gate. You need to walk across the tarmac to get into the airport. Pants and a sweater should keep you warm for the quick walk.

Taxi from Airport to Hotel

When you arrive at the airport, there will be taxi cabs available for you to take to the Delta Hotel, at your own charge. There will be taxis outside waiting at the entrance to the Arrivals terminal, but if you need to call one, here are the best options:

Yellow Cab 1-902-566-6666

City Taxi 1-902569-9999

The fair for a ride from the airport to the Delta for one person is $16, plus $5 per additional person.

Arriving by Car

The Confederation Bridge is the only way to reach PEI in the winter time by car. It is periodically closed due to high winds over the water that can exceed 110 km/h. It is not recommended to drive to PEI in the winter. Halifax, the closest metropolitan area, is three and a half hours away and the roads are often snow covered and white-out conditions can occur suddenly. If you are driving, please talk with the organizers for more safety information.

Public Transit

Public transportation in Charlottetown is provided by T3 Transit (t3transit.ca). During NIBS 2019, an effort to be "green" will be put forth. As part of this effort, students will take transit back to the Delta hotel when they complete their matches each day. This allows for flexibility in departure times and gives students a chance to explore Charlottetown.

The UPEI bus shelter is located on University Avenue (named "Browns Court"), across the street from the main entrance to the UPEI campus. It is about a five-minute walk from McDougall Hall (where most of presentations will take place on campus). Once onboard the bus, students will ride for about 10 minutes until they reach the Confederation Centre of the Arts bus shelter. They can then walk 4 minutes to the Delta hotel (transit schedule below).

All NIBS 2019 participants ride for free on transit for the week of Feb. 17-22, 2019 (NIBS 2019 name tag will act as a bus pass). Ambassadors are available to provide guidance for taking transit.

Participants can opt to walk (approx. 45 minutes) or take a taxi at their own expense from UPEI to Delta.

ABOUT CHARLOTTETOWN

Charlottetown (population: 36,094) is Prince Edward Island's capital. The city is in the centre of the province and is the largest city on PEI. Charlottetown is the central business hub, downtown is host to many law and accounting firms, small businesses and start-ups and the national headquarters of the federal department of Veterans Affairs Canada. Charlottetown is the 'birthplace of Canada'; the founders of Canada met in PEI to begin their preliminary discussions about forming a unified country out of the then independent provinces.

In the summer, the city is bustling with visitors from all over the world who come by car, air, and cruise ship to explore the historic downtown, try the amazing local cuisine, and venture into more rural areas to enjoy a day on the beach. The night life for young people in Charlottetown is great for a city of just over 36,000. There are many restaurants and bars to visit that suit all preferences. The cold winter weather brings a slower pace to the city, but make sure to ask your ambassador more about Charlottetown and PEI to get an 'insider' perspective!

ABOUT UNIVERSITY OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

The University of Prince Edward Island (UPEI) was founded in 1969 after the amalgamation of two institutions, Prince of Wales College (founded 1820) and St. Dunstan's University (founded 1831). St. Dustan's Main Building, which is still on the current campus, was one of the original buildings of St. Dunstan's University. Three more of the original historic buildings make up what is commonly referred to as the 'quad' on campus. As UPEI began to grow more buildings were built to the south of the 'quad', including the Don and Marion MacDougall Hall which was completed in 2008.

UPEI is home to the only veterinary medicine program east of Montreal. It attracts aspiring veterinarians from all over eastern Canada and the northeastern United States. As the only university on PEI, UPEI has helped to grow the Island economy and society through its innovative undergraduate program offerings in sustainable design engineering, nursing, paramedicine, and business, to name a few. One of the most unique program offerings is a Master of Arts in Island Studies. This program has course and thesis-based streams that is a unique, interdisciplinary, and policy-driven graduate program that critiques islands on their own terms.

ABOUT THE FACULTY OF BUSINESS AT UPEI

The Faculty of Business is housed in Don and Marion MacDougall Hall; it was opened in 2008. The Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) program offers seven specializations: Accounting, Entrepreneurship, Finance, International Business, Marketing, Organizational Management, and Tourism and Hospitality. Additionally, the Faculty of Business offers an accelerated BBA for students who already have a college education, a Bachelor of Business Studies, certificate programs in business, accounting, and public administration, and an Executive Master of Business administration for those who have previous work experience. The new offering is a Master of Business Administration in Global Leadership, an intensive and cohort-model MBA program that is delivered over 12 months.

The faculty at UPEI are diverse in knowledge, research interests, and experience. The faculty has a complimentary mixture of professors with industry experience who bring the business world to the students, and academics who are actively researching business, publishing in top-rank journals, and passing on their innovative and remarkable findings to students. This combination creates a well-rounded business student who is ready to into the workforce with an in-depth understanding of how it works and fresh ideas to improve outcomes.

UPEI Business is proud to have several distinguished alumni who have gone on to make a difference in the business world and beyond. Some notable alumni include the current Premier of Prince Edward Island and former President of UPEI Hon. H. Wade MacLauchlan, and current CEO of Grant Thornton Canada, one of the largest accounting and advisory firms in Canada, Kevin Ladner. These are just two examples of the leaders that come from the UPEI Faculty of Business!
